NAVY BASE REALIGNMENT AND CLOSURE (BRAC)

In 1988, the Department of Defense created the Base Realignment and Closure (BRAC) Program to oversee the cleanup and transfer of military bases to public or private groups for redevelopment.

HPNS was added to the BRAC Program in 1988, and the Navy has been working since that time to clean up hazardous wastes created by former shipyard use.

Radiological Data Investigation Update

In 2012, as a part of its regular review of contractor data, the Navy learned of a discrepancy in radiological sampling by one contractor, Tetra Tech EC (TtEC). Sampling data in question was reviewed and initial corrective actions were taken by TtEC. In 2016, a former TtEC contractor made additional claims about the work done in 2012.

In November 2016, the Navy hired an independent team of contractors to further review and evaluate the reliability of the radiological data collected by TtEC. As part of the evaluation, the technical team is currently developing a database of soil data and reviewing radiological sampling/survey results which may require further evaluation. An initial progress update is planned for September 2017.

If you have further questions about the radiological data investigation or any other part of the cleanup at Hunters Point Naval Shipyard, please contact:
